Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicant's arguments are not persuasive. Applicant argued that the display mask 21 (see Figs. 1, 12 and 13 of Ohgami) cannot fairly be construed as the arm, fixing member, or housing covering an electronic device recited in claims 1, 17, 26 and 27. The Examiner disagrees since the so-called arm 9 in Fig. 2A of the current application is only a short bar which is not a part of a body or a housing covering an electronic device. It is also noted that Fig. 2A of the current application does not show an electronic device. As shown in Figs. 1, 12 and 13 of Ohgami, the display mask 21, which is a part of the casing 15, comprises a projection 21b having a hook 25 extending from a side thereoff, the display mask is connected to electronic devices 49 and 46 and electronic devices in the main body 2 of a portable computer (col. 5, lines 41-53 and col. 6, lines 16-41). Accordingly, the display mask 21(21b) has the same function as the so-called arm of the present invention. Applicant also argued that Ohgami fails to teach or suggest a frame having a first opening and a second opening on a lateral surface thereof since as shown in Fig. 12 of Ohgami, the pushing portion 75 is received into a single aperture 72. The Examiner disagrees since the aperture 72 on the lateral surface of the frame 20 has a first opening as the top portion of the aperture 72 above the engaging claw 26 and the gap 73, which is formed for receiving the engaging claw 25 as clearly shown in Fig. 12. Finally, It is noted that the claims must be interpreted as broadly as their terms reasonably allow; this means that the words of the claims must be given their plain meaning unless Applicant has provided a clear definition in the specification (see MPEP 2111.01).

Claims 6, 8, 11-16, 21 and 22, which were objected in the last office action, are allowable since claims 6, 8 and 21 are rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
